Rion Renman, Graeme Harris, Jane Daniels, Kathleen Rodgers (deputy chair Disability Resource Centre), John Gadsby (chairman Hastings District Masonic Trust), Bryan Baker (executive officer Hastings District Masonic Trust) and Ali Shapland (suport services manager Disability Resource Centre) check out the bus which will take them to Wellington on Saturday.

Grant makes trip to Te Papa possible

MARY MCCARTY

A grant from the Hastings District Masonic Trust will mean a big day out for a group from the Disability Resource Centre.

Early on Saturday morning a group of around 50, including caregivers, will set out to Wellington for a visit to Te Papa to view the museum's Anzac display Gallipoli – the scale of our War. The exhibition, which features the work of Weta Workshop, "combines the worlds of movies, model-making and museums" to provide a vivid portrait of what life in the trenches was like. Kathleen Rodgers, the deputy chair of Disability Resource Centre said the group was looking to seeing the exhibition and everything else Te Papa had to offer.

"It is going to be a full day trip and everyone is looking forward to it," she said.

"We are very grateful for the grant from the Masonic Trust which has made it possible."

The group includes those with a variety of disabilities and ranges in ages from 17 to 60.

Grant makes Te Papa trip possible

A grant from the Hastings District Masonic Trust will mean a big day out for a group from the Disability Resource Centre.

Early on Saturday morning a group of around 50, including caregivers, will set out to Wellington for a visit to Te Papa to view the museum's Anzac display Gallipoli – the scale of our War.

The exhibition, which features the work of Weta Workshop, "combines the worlds of movies, model-making and museums" to provide a vivid portrait of what life in the trenches was like.

Kathleen Rodgers, the deputy chair of Disability Resource Centre said the group was looking to seeing the exhibition and everything else Te Papa had to offer.

"It is going to be a full day trip and everyone is looking forward to it," she said.

"We are very grateful for the grant from the Masonic Trust which has made it possible."

Rion Renman, Graeme Harris, Jane Daniels, Kathleen Rodgers (deputy chair Disability Resource Centre), John Gadsby (chairman Hastings District Masonic Trust), Bryan Baker (executive officer Hastings District Masonic Trust) and Ali Shapland (suport services manager Disability Resource Centre) check out the bus which will take them to Wellington.

The Disability Resource Centre baking group has been busy making sure those travelling will have plenty of supplies too.